A Quick Introduction to American Factfinder 2
Click on “Geographies” and then choose the level of geography you want to look at (e.g., Census tract, Zip Code, county, city, etc.)
Click on the geography name you want to use. Or, if you want multiple selections, use the checkboxes to the left of the name and click “Add.” Note the box in the upper left that shows the filters you’re using.
Click on “Topics.” If you’re looking at race and ethnicity, the choices will be under “People.”
Note that “Hispanic or Latino” and “Race/Ethnicity of Individual” are separate questions. You’ll want to choose them both. Note, too, that if you’re looking at individual people, you’ll want to use the “Race/Ethnicity of Individual” as opposed to “Race/Ethnicity of Householder.” Close the box when you’ve made your selections.
All the tables listed in the results should match your criteria. Choose a table or tables that use the data (year, percent samples) that best meet your needs.
1. Data for each geographic area is available via the dropdown menu at the top.
