CDC has had an initial discussion of the proposed GILS MOU on Last Copy Retention of Government Publications that you submitted to us in July. We appreciate the intent of the document in attempting to ensure a comprehensive historic collection of government information in UC, but we are not ready to approve it at this time. Because the proposed MOU’s scope is so extensive, it has raised some questions that dovetail CDC’s current broader discussion about the directions and scope of the Shared Print Program, and provides us with some more concrete examples of issues under discussion.

CDC will be continuing its discussions to clarify the directions and goals for the Shared Print Program into the Fall, and we expect that the outcome of the broader discussion will help us respond to this MOU. I will get back to you with further guidance on potentially refining the MOU when CDC has been able to further clarify broader directions for shared print.

Thank you again for your efforts in this direction.
